

What is 20th International Congress of Young Medical Scientists?

20th International Congress of Young Medical Scientists is organized by the Student Scientific Society at the Medical University of Poznan on 28th – 30th May 2020. It is a very special event for our University because it is our anniversary edition of the Congress.

Congress is a competition addressed to all medical scientists around the world, who would like to present their paper during the event. This year we plan to organise 14 scientific sessions, 5 “case reports” sessions and a special session for Ph.D. Winners of each scientific session could also take part in the exceptional final Golden Session. For every winner awaits special prizes. During Congress there is also a possibility to attend workshops prepared by Student Scientific Society and our Partners. On the very last day of the event we prepared a special social program for all the participants and lecturers to celebrate the end of the Congress.
